green on his head, and body arrayed in gilt and purple and erim-son. He was the prettiest bird in the world. Hope he will come to A report of a club meeting and several other interesting items will appear in next week's Herald, it

J. J. Haslett and daughter, Miss Nancy returned Saturday night from Guthrie, Okla., wither they went three weeks ago on a sad errand, to bury Mrs. Haslett. Their kindred and friends in Guthrie tried hard to prevail upon Mr.
Haslett to remain with them permanently and offered some strong inducements to this end, but he told them that he could not be satisfied anywhere except here at Punta Gorda. Mr. Haslett was asked many questions about this locality, all of which he answered truthfully and wisely. He told those people that, while he himself thought this the best place in the world, they might not like it as well as he did, and so he advised them not to "pull up stakes" and move to Florida untill they had come here and investigated for themselves.
